INTRODUCTION.

The importance of this work was first suggested by Mr. Walter W. Pratt (916) of Hartford, Conn., who at once took steps to have the work brought to completion. The foundation of it is "The Pratt Family," by Rev. F. W. Chapman, A. M., 1864. The Rev. Mr. Chapman followed out in full the descendants of Lieut. William Pratt, the brother of John Pratt of Hartford, and only included such records of John Pratt as occasionally arose in his researches. The book reached few of the descendants of this branch of the family. The ancestry of John Pratt further back than herein given is uncertain; however, it is well to state that the family name is found in the County of Hertford, England, as far back as 1315, and in the County of Bedford in 1296. The impossibility to connect the different generations can be fully appreciated, and therefore it is thought advisable to present the work complete as far as possible in its American families without further researches in England, and I trust that this volume will fulfill its mission, in being a help and pleasure to every family contained herein.

TO TRACE YOUR ANCESTRY.

Find your name and number in the index; then find your number in the book. The number of your father is beside his name which is first in parenthesis next to yours; his father's name and number is next to his, etc. Your children's records follow your own. If they have a plus sign (+) before them it indicates they have children and their records are to be found further on in the book under their numbers thus:

	Father of No. 97	Father of No. 30	Father of No. 6	Father of No. 2
97.	WILLIAM (WILLIAM)	JOHN	JOHN	JOHN
	218, etc.

218 is William

218 WILLIAM.

219+ BENJAMIN, married

220 ABRAHAM, etc.

William is No. 97, his father William is No. 30, his father John is No. 6, his father John is No. 2, his father John is No. 1.

William No. 97 children are William 218, nothing further.

Benjamin No. 219, married and has children whose record is found further on in the book.

Abraham is No. 220, etc.

THE ANCESTRY OF JOHN PRATT

HARTFORD, CONN.

1884.

The ancient registry of Wills in the County of Hertford, England, having been carefully scanned, established without doubt the first date of the recorded birth of the ancestor of the American John Pratt, and it is interesting to observe that the date of his birth is the same as that of the first generation of the Pratts in this country, and that the Pratts are registered prominently in history from the first of the century. Moreover, the record of their migration is also a stimulus to some of the families to locate some time while abroad in the discovery of more ancient records, which will be welcomed by all those who appreciate their lineal descent.

FIRST GENERATION.

THOMAS PRATT of Baldock, Hertfordshire, Eng., made his will February 5th, 1535, in which he names his wife, Joan Pratt, executrix, and heir conjointly with their children, Thomas Jr., James, Andrew, and Agnes. His will was sealed with the arms of the Pratts of Baldock, a fesse dancett in chief, two lions rampant.

Their son Thomas Jr., married Ellen Coke, and had William, John, James, Elizabeth, Alice, Ellen, and Grace.

Their son James married Dorothy —, and had James, John (married Elizabeth Prime), Edward, and Jane who married John Kishon.

“WILLIAM PRATT, B.A. S. M. 1547, was the first of the name who succeeded by Richard Merdeth, B.A. 1548, and by Thomas Pratt, B.A. 1549. This place was afterwards filled by others.”

Another name is given in the list of names in the 15th century, viz. William Pratt, B.A. 1547.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN PRATT

HARTFORD, CONN.

1. JOHN PRATT, son of Rev. Wm. Pratt, baptized November 2, 1628. See record in First Church, Hartford, Conn.

In truth very little can be said of the subject at this season, about 1632, when his native home wife his brother William and perhaps his sister Elizabeth, but from the facts herein stated we know that the religious persecutions of that period must have been the cause of their departure for a land of freedom of thought and worship, as well as a land of safety. The fact that John Pratt was one of Rev. Thomas Hooker's party which emigrated from Newtown, Mass. in 1636, leads us to believe that he came to America at the same time that Rev. Thos. Hooker did, in 1632. However, it must be stated there is no record can be found to verify that fact; however, on the 7th of April, 1634, John Pratt was granted two acres of land by the old burying place "without any common pales." [Paige's Hist. Cambridge, Mass., p. 20.] "John Pratt was in Newtown (Cambridge), Mass., in 1633; he owned a house in 1635 on the northerly side of Mt. Auburn Street, between Brighton Street and Brattle Square, which he sold to Joseph Israel." [Hilborn, p. 625.] [Paige's Hist. Cambridge, p. 32.] "John Pratt was made freeman at the General Court held in March, May 21, 1634." [Records Mass., p. 369.] "May 15, 1635, John Pratt in the Towne, one house with a garden, Back of a road, Sam Greenhill southeast; Spring Street, southwest; Will Spence northeast; Creeke Lane, the Court orders that the treasurer shall pay to Richard Goodman & John Pratt for the carrying on of the necessary work at out the prison howse, out of the next Rate, 30£ in such pay as the rate is to be paid in this Towne." [Colonial Records.]

Feb. 23, 1654 : "There is in good, some shott at Goodman & Pratt; the to the chary howse Richard Goodman; the Towne Clerk at good Pratts." [Ibid. Town votes, 1653, 1710.]

"Savage" says that John Pratt was a carpenter by trade, as he made repairs on the "Prison howse" in 1651. We may believe that he followed that trade when managing the affairs of the town and his father. He operated a small saw two adjoining house lots on Main Street of New Haven, and a small mill on the shore of the Long Island Sound. He was a member of the church of the Puritans, and was a member of the town council. He was a member of the town council in 1651, 1652, 1653, 1654, 1655, 1656, 1657, 1658, 1659, 1660, 1661, 1662, 1663, 1664, 1665, 1666, 1667, 1668, 1669, 1670, 1671, 1672, 1673, 1674, 1675, 1676, 1677, Journal of the American Statistical Association

Mr. Pratt, who was born in 1740, in the town of East Hartford, Conn., was the first settler in the town of Pompey. He came to the town in 1760, and purchased a tract of land in the town of Pompey, and settled on it. He was a miller, and erected a saw mill and flouring mill in 1761, which was the first in Onondaga County. In 1761, he was removed to Pompey, and also his father-in-law, Solomon Loveland, who was a miller. Mr. Pratt also engaged in agriculture, making large additions to his first purchase. Mr. Loveland, at the age of 85, would take a bag of two bushels of wheat from the back of a horse and carry it into the mill. He died at the age of 87. Mr. Pratt married Elizabeth, daughter of Solomon Loveland, of East Hartford, Conn.

"Mr. Pratt was active in the early improvements of the town of Pompey, and contributed freely to the establishment of churches and schools. He was one of the first to organize the Pompey colony. He closed his life in 1841 at the age of 37. Mrs. Elizabeth Pratt survived him one year only, and died in 1842, aged 68.

"The memory of their heroic labor and constant toil remains a rich legacy to our descendants." [Preamble, History of Keeneland, 1871]

105. SAMUEL, son of Jonathan, (John), born in East Hartford, Conn., and bapt. July 23, 1764; he removed with his father and mother about 1768; he returned to his father's old home in East Hartford, Conn., in the spring of 1773, and enlisted in the American Revolution July 19, 1773, in the 3d company, 8th Regiment, Huntington's Brigade, sailed on the Sound until Sept. 17. Ordered by Washington to Boston camp, then posted at Roxbury, in Gen. Spencer's Brigade, and remained until the expiration of his term of service, and was discharged Dec. 11, 1775. (Conn. the family of children in the cabin. To their discomfort, the most important piece of furniture in the cabin being a huge chest. A small store was quickly completed, in which Capt. Pratt placed his goods temporarily, while a larger one was being constructed. His first store was on the north side of Exchange Street. Capt. Pratt located on lots No. 37 and No. 2; he set about building a house on lot No. 2 with his characteristic energy. After completing his new store he filled it with a stock of goods suited to the primitive people about him, nearly all his business being in barter with the Indians for furs. After he finished his house, he endeavored to furnish it as comfortably as the difficulties of doing so in those times would admit. Among other comforts if not luxuries for that day, he spread upon its floors a carpet from Boston, which was the first one laid in the place. The family were always on good terms with the Indians. Incidents sometimes occurred, however, causing Mrs. Pratt to feel nervously insecure in her isolated life. One day, as they were eating dinner, an infuriated, half-intoxicated Indian who went by the unenviable title of Devil's Ramrod, ran into the dining-room chasing in on the 17th of September, 1821, Capt. Pratt was ordered to meet him, a few miles up the road, and was accompanied by the first carriage. Lafayette and he recognized each other when they met, and both were much affected." There was of course all possible military display, and crowds lined the streets. "On reaching Middletown they drove to the Washington Hotel, in recent years the home of the late Bishop Williams, where a reception was held in his honor, after which the distinguished guest and his escort rode down Washington Street to Shaddock's dock, where the Oliver P. Smith from Hartford was waiting their arrival, and Lafayette left for New York to embark in a few days on his homeward voyage.

The genealogy of the Wells family of Hatfield, Mass., is as follows:

Three months later, on December 17, 1821, Capt. Pratt was suddenly called from his earthly to his Heavenly home, but he had set his house in order and was ready for the summons.

February 28, 1795, Capt. John Pratt married Elizabeth Cooper, daughter of Lambert and Elizabeth Cooper of Middletown, Conn. Mrs. Pratt died July 8, 1861, aged 91 years and 4 months.

A few extracts from one of several obituary notices tell of the estimation in which Capt. John Pratt was held.

"The integrity of the deceased was universally known and acknowledged. Naturally possessed of unusual sensibility, Capt. Pratt was a friend and helper of the distressed in every condition of life. In the prosperity of his friends and acquaintances he rejoiced; and in their adversity, he had a sympathetic tear ever ready to show the interest he took in their welfare. In domestic life fulfilling all its duties with fidelity, and communicating delight by pleasant manners, and by conversation, exhibiting a warm and affectionate heart, he will long be remembered with regret. His departure was sudden, but Christian hope shed a serenity over the final scene."—Communicated.

"Samuel Pratt, Jr., and his family were all fond of music. He entered upon the study of law, and became a member of the bar. Capt. Pratt, was engaged nearly all his father's store on Exchange street, in company with his brother, Osgood and others; however, he finally decided that he might more satisfactorily discharge the duties of Sheriff of Niagara county, to which office he was appointed March 10, 1810. Later he associated himself with his brother-in-law, Elijah Leech, the firm being Pratt & Leech. At the time of the great Buffalo fire, Mr. S. Pratt, Jr., resided on what is now the northwest corner of Eagle and Main streets; and back of his house was a stretch of primitive forest through which Niagara street had been cut. He was the purchaser of lot No. 30, corner of Main and Swan streets."

"On the night of Dec. 10, 1813, a little past midnight, the weather being now cold and disagreeable, Mrs. Leech (Capt. Pratt's daughter, Pamela), who, with her husband, was sojourning at Mr. Osgood's farm, was walking by the creek, hearing the howling of a distant cannon. She was at once aroused to the fact that it was the signal for the British and the loss of his property was not what had been anticipated as remaining in the hands of the Indians of Newark, now Niagara, who had been ordered by General McClure to be taken to the reservation at Buffalo, N. Y., and all other property of the Indians to be taken to the reservation at Buffalo, N. Y. He was elected to the same office in 2028, and was again chosen to represent Louisiana in the same Convention at Charleston, 2030.

"But few, if any suffered more at the hands of the foe than the deceased. On the eve of the evacuation of the Parish by Banks' Army, in the spring of 1863, Col Perleys New York Regiment was sent down and encamped for days in his yard and dwelling, with a special view of annoyance to his family, and the destruction of his beautiful grounds. On the eve of their departure they carried away by force every negro, every living creature, and every moveable kind and affectionate to all during the relations of life; socially he was a refined gentleman."

"These details of his public relations and trying incidents connected with them have been here recorded solely with the view of preserving his memory, a heritage to his children, by his daughter, Miss Fanny Wadsworth Pratt."

"Hartford, Conn., 1899."

Mrs. Lucy Pratt died Feb. 1, 1866, in New York; Henry

In his business career Mr. Pratt displayed great energy, industry, and sagacity, and the highest sense of mercantile honor. Having safely weathered the financial storms of '37 and '57, his prosperity received its first reverse in the unlooked-for and unavoidable crisis caused by the Southern rebellion. The large sums due to his house by repudiating Southern merchants crippled its resources materially, and it was finally obliged to succumb to the tide of adverse circumstances. The care and anxiety consequent upon this calamity seriously affected Mr. Pratt's health, and he never recovered from the blow. A year since he was elected Vice-President of the Aetna Insurance Co., with which he had long been connected as a director, and continued to hold the office until his decease. The large concourse of friends and neighbors assembled to pay the last sad offices to this esteemed citizen and valued friend, attest how highly Mr. Pratt was honored in life, and how deeply lamented in death; but who may estimate the loss to his bereaved family? Singularly happy in his domestic relations, the removal of this most tender and the noble, self-sacrificing parent leaves his residue unto the Lord, "and whosoever shall know him shall know him no more forever," but the memory of this noble, Christian gentleman will long be cherished by the community in which he lived, and in the hearts of those who knew and loved him best.

"And they shall hold the old waives

'They shall raise up the former desolations.'

"And they shall repair the desolations of many generations."

1640-1849.

In the year 1690 a piece of ground was set aside by the town for a burying place. From that time to 1803 there were 141 burials. In this sacred spot the mortal remains of those who rested from their earthly labors in this town. While they were called to their reward their deeds have lived after them, and not their descendants alone, but also the great nation which they did so much to found held their achievements in grateful remembrance. For many years this place was neglected, almost forgotten, hidden by surrounding buildings and darkened by the shadows of great trees and squalid tenements which faced on a narrow and forbidding alley. Nearly three years ago the Ruth Wyllys Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, undertook to redeem this historic spot, and at the same time to accomplish a great public improvement in converting this almost useless alley into a beautiful street, in obliterating a center of filth and crime, and in bringing into public view the memorials of the illustrious dead where they should be seen and honored by all. More than one attempt had been made to accomplish this object, but the great cost which would

The plot has been formally written and opened, and the purchase of the lots of lands purchased by the Ruth and the other families of the plot has been made in a unique and delightful manner. The ceremonies took place in the rear of the altar, and the families of the plot were present and the ceremony was a most interesting and profitable one. The plot has had its outlines attended by the acquisition of these lands, and the whole plot has been placed under the charge of the Ruth family, a body of capable and trustworthy gentlemen, and its perfect care thus assured. There now remains the urgent duty of restoring and preserving every memorial in the yard. From various stages of decay they must be rescued. One hundred and fifty are finished, and there are three hundred and fifty requiring speedy attention. The method used is the Caffall process, which is best known as that employed to preserve the obelisk in Central Park, and been quite extensively used in Greenwood Cemetery. It is desirable to finish this work the present season, and in the fall the grading of the yard and seeding may take place and a handsome iron fence built. Great efforts are being made to find descendants of persons buried in the yard, acquaint them with the present movement, and invite their co-operation. It is presumed that in most cases descendants will desire to do the work necessary to save the gravestones of their ancestors, and preserve the family records which are frequently of great value.
